Numb. 205

THE South-Carolina Gazette.

Containing the freſheſt Advices Foreign and Domeſtick.

From Thurſday, DECEMBER 22, to Thurſday, DECEMBER 29, 1737.

WARSAW, September 14.

COPIES have been diſperſed here in French of an Account wrote from Petersburg, in which it is ſaid, that the Detachment commanded by General Douglas advanced to Bacciesaria, the Capital of Crim Tartary, after having plundered it, reduced it entirely to Aſhes, as the ſecond Part of the dreadful Scene acted there laſt Year by Count Munich. The Ruſſians found a vaſt Booty in that City, becauſe the Tartars had laid up the greateſt Part of their Riches there as in a Place of Safety, not thinking to receive a Viſit any more on that Side. That Account adds, that, after this laſt Expedition, Veldt-Marſhal Count Lacy aſſembled all the Troops under his Command, repaſſed the Muddy Sea, and march'd towards Precop. That General has wrote to a Poliſh Lord of his Acquaintance, That by a modeſt Computation he fix'd at a Thouſand the number of the Villages he had ravag'd and burnt in the Eaſtern Part of the Crim; that this Side, which was formerly the fineſt and moſt populous of the whole Country, was now entirely ruin'd; and that the Tartars would feel for a long Time the Effects of the Invaſion made in their Country to puniſh them for all the Damage they formerly did to Ruſſia, and the Inſults committed againſt her.

LONDON, Sept. 13.

From Pool in Dorſetſhire we hear, that laſt Week died in that Neighbourhood Mr. Sam: Lane, a noted Attorney, reputed worth Thirty Thouſand Pounds. He left Five Pounds to a merry Wag, who punn'd upon the Letters of his Name, and made them out by tranſverſing them, to ſay, ſue all Men. We think he was not indebted to him for the Joke.

Extract of a Letter from on board the Neptune, Capt. Players from Jamaica, dated Cowes, September 16.

" We put in here by contrary Winds, after " 10 Weeks Paſſage, but have met with moſt " violent and tempeſtuous Weather, ever " ſince we left Company with the Prince Wil- " liam, Capt. Reynolds: We came through " the Gulph together; but between the Iſle " of Pines and Cape Anthony, met with a " Spaniſh Man of War and a Dutch Ship " whom they had taken, and an Engliſh Brig. " belonging to Briſtol, which they had alſo " took, and a Sloop of their own, who brought " us too, and came aboard, broke open our " Main Hatches, carried away a Piece or two " of Fuſtick, robbed the People of upwards " of 20 l. Value; they broke open ſeveral " Boxes of Preſents, and then left us; but " the third Day they came on board again, " and uſed us worſe than before.

This will ever be the Trade of the Spaniards, unleſs the Maritime Powers effectually ſhew, that they have not loſt the Spirit which uſed to make the neighbouring Nations tremble.

Sept. 24. It is currently reported about Town that the Spaniards have actually embark'd 4000 Men in order to ſurprize Georgia.

The laſt Letters from Cadiz ſay, there is Advice come by the Fleet from Mexico, that the Spaniards have taken ſix Engliſh Merchant Ships on the Coaſt of America, on Pretence they were carrying on contraband Trade.

They write from Holland, by the laſt Mail, that the States General have taken a Reſolution which makes a great Noiſe, and is as follows:

" That upon the reiterate Complaints of " the Subjects of their High Mightineſſes, " who are interreſted in the Commerce of the " Weſt-India Company, touching the Cap- " ture of the Ships by the Spaniſh Privateers, " and the conſtant Depredations that thoſe " Privateers commit, to the heavy Prejudice " of the Dutch Commerce; their High Migh- " tineſſes have determined to deſire the King " of France, and the King of Great-Britain, " ſo far to ſupport the ſeveral Repreſenta- " tions that have already been made to the

" King

" King of Spain, as to grant them their Mediation, to " the end that the Republick may obtain of his Catholick " Majesty the just Satisfaction that it has a Right to de- " mand, particularly on the Account of the Ship bound for " Coracoa which the Spaniards took in the open Sea, and " carried to St. Domingo, after having plunder'd it and " abused the Crew Wherefore if contrary to the Tenor " of Treaties, and the Liberty of Commerce, the Spanish " Privateers take upon them to molest, and even seize on " Ships which go from the Ports of this Country into the " Dutch Colonies, and no Redress can be had for such " Oppression from the Court of Spain, tho' repeated In- " stances are made for that Purpose, their High Migh- " tinesses cannot but look upon these Proceedings as Holli- " lities, and tending to subvert the good Understanding " and Friendship which they are desirous of maintaining " with his Catholick Majesty. That their High Migh- " tinesses hope, that their most Christian and Britannick " Majesties will not refuse them their Mediation with his " Catholick Majesty, in order to obtain them a reasonable " Satisfaction.

Copies of this Resolution were order'd to be sent to the Ambassadors of the Kings of Great-Britain, France and Spain.

The last Letters from the Havanna mention, that a Guarda Costa belonging to that Place, but then on a Cruise, had sent in an English Ship called the Prince William, Capt. Kingselegh bound from St. Christopher's to London, taken in the Latitude of Bermuda: Her Lading was chiefly Sugars, but had some Braziletta Wood, which last is the Reason of her being sent in there; altho' 'tis known that that Wood grows in the Island of Providence, from whence it actually came.

Last Week died of an Asthma at Bologne in France, Mr. Nathaniel Mist, Printer, very well known for the Weekly Papers publish'd some time since under his Name.
